Subject: Present with confidence: Welcome to your Genio Present account!

Hi [Student Name],

Ever feel like your heart is racing before a big presentation?

You're not alone - most people say their biggest fear is public speaking.

We're excited to introduce you to Genio Present, a beautifully simple learning tool designed to help you boost your communication skills and presentation confidence.

Genio Present helps you move beyond basic memorization. By supporting a self-led process of rehearsal, reflection, and feedback, it helps you truly know your content and build confidence in your presentation skills.

Subject: How did your first look at Genio Present go?

Hi [Student Name],

Checking in to see if you were able to log in to your new Genio Present account!

Getting started is easy. The best way to see the value is to try a quick practice rehearsal. Whether you're preparing for a seminar next week or just want to practice speaking more clearly, Genio Present is here to equip you with the tools to expand what's possible through learning.

Here's how to get started:

1. Visit [https://app.genio.co/present].
2. Enter your institution's student email.
3. Set your goals - you don't have to, but you may find it helpful to focus on one thing at a time.
4. Try recording your first rehearsal to get instant insights into your performance.

Subject: How are your presentations going?

Hi [Student Name],

How have you been doing lately? Whether you've already given a presentation this term or have one coming up, remember that practice is the key to progress.

Genio Present is designed to help you build a habit of rehearsal that makes the real thing feel like second nature. But great learning doesn't stop at presenting; it involves the habits and confidence you build every day.
